NEWS NOTES

proud to be a part of it

On May 3, the Deltona City Commission unanimously approved a moratorium on residential planned unit development applications for rezoning in effect from July 1 through Dec. 31, 2021. This will allow staff to consider adding new residential categories to City code and modify land use designations in the comprehensive plan and future land use map. Categories may include: rural, low-density residential (0 to 1.99 units per acre); suburban, medium-density residential (2 to 3.99 units per acre) and urban, high-density residential (4 to 6 units per acre).

Is your home located in a flood plain? Staff from the City of Deltona's Public Works Department are available to help residents explore the causes of repetitive flooding on their property, what the City is doing about it, what protection might be needed or other protection alternatives. Please call (386) 878-8950 for more information. Information on preparing for a flood, and permanent flood protection measures are available from RedCross.org, FEMA.gov and Ready.Gov/floods. The City of Deltona's Building Department may have information on financial assistance and programs that administer flood protection rebates for low flood walls, overhead sewers, sewer backup valves and utility relocations. Residents who are interested in elevating your building above the flood level may qualify for a federal grant to cover 75 percent of the cost. Homeowner's insurance policies do not cover damage from floods. Residents may want to consider a flood insurance policy. Because Deltona participates in the National Flood Insurance Program, residents may purchase a separate flood insurance policy, backed by the Federal government. Because our community participates in the Community Rating System, resident will receive a reduction in their premiums. If your area is not mapped as a Special Flood Hazard Area, you may qualify for a lower-cost Preferred Risk Policy.

Deltona Fire & Rescue recently presented 2020 achievement awards (delayed because of COVID-19) for firefighter, paramedic and rookie of the year at a ceremony at The Center at Deltona:

- Engineer Aaron Paylor, a 10-year veteran of the department, was named firefighter of the year for his contributions to the organizations success. He serves on multiple committees, the honor guard, bike team and as an American Heart Association instructor, a teacher for driver and aerial operations courses and he takes the time to work with younger firefighters.

- Engineer Abe Espinoza has been employed with the City of Deltona for almost 16 years. His uplifting and positive personality and ability to work with anyone, as well as his care and treatment of critically ill patients while voluntarily working on the busiest unit in the City contributed to this achievement. He works to make sure the organization is prepared while providing the highest level of care for patients.

- Aubrey Feliciano has been with the department less than a year but has already shown her ability as a team player and future leader. She's proved she can adapt to complex work conditions and completes tasks with minimal direction, setting goals far ahead of most. She sought out required driver/operator classes on her own and completed her State pump operators certification and aerial operators classes. She's enrolled in paramedic school and will soon complete a certification in advanced hospital pre-hospital care.
